Urban food gardens can provide us with fresh fruits and vegetables to eat. Small gardens like this one are part of a larger food system that includes farms and markets of all sizes.

Where does your food come from?